Special Officer Pulls Gun In Scrap With Other Officer At Light House Beach

It seems that some Scoto county officers can't find enough bad men to get in trouble with so they get a little diversion now and then by pulling their guns on each other. At least this is the story told by witnesses who saw a fracas which started at Light House Beach, Sunday night.

According to the witnesses, the son of Martin Slaughter, New Boston country, got into the dance hall without buying a ticket. Charles Schwinn, special officer employed at Light House Beach, went to Slaughter toward the close of the dance and told him that his boy had been going in the hall without a ticket. Slaughter, it is said, called Schwinn a liar and tried to hit him but Schwinn ducked the blow and knocked Slaughter down a number of times on the dance floor. After being knocked down the second time Slaughter drew his revolver on Schwinn. A crowd of men who were standing close by grabbed the officer before he could shoot, and took the gun away from him. Slaughter, it seems, was acting according to his duty and did not do anything out of the way in calling Slaughter for his son's misdemeanor. Neither one of the officers was placed under arrest and no charges have been placed against them, although it is said there were other officers present when the affair started. Instead of making charges against either of the two men these other officers seem to be trying to keep it quiet and refuse to tell anything that would implicate either officer, it is claimed.

Robbers Fooled At Wellston

WELLSTON, O., Sept. 2.—Robbers who entered the office of the Wellston Iron Furnace Company and broke open the fireproof safe-cabinet, had all the work for naught, as no money is kept in the cabinet, which was badly damaged. Tools used were property of the B. & O. and were stolen from the roundhouse here or a section gang.

Will Greet Mr. Boulay

MANCHESTER, O., Sept. 2.—The Manchester Business Men's Club has arranged a suitable reception for State Highway Director L. A. Boulay of Columbus, who will visit here Thursday while making an inspection trip over the Atlantic and Pacific Highway from Cincinnati to Ironton. The program planned calls for a band concert, reception by citizens, address at club luncheon. He is to be here at noon. Mr. Boulay is scheduled to speak at Rome at two p. m.

Preparing To Pave At Manchester

MANCHESTER, O., Sept. 2.—The Well, Roth & Irving Co., Cincinnati, were the successful bidders for $250,000 5 1/2 percent improvement bonds sold today. J. C. Simons, contractor, of Mayville, was the lowest bidder for concreting Pike street from Front to Eighth, Washington street, from Second to Fourth, Fourth street from Pike to Washington.

Work will begin as soon as the bonds can be printed and signed. Last year Mr. Simons did $30,000 worth of concrete work on Second street. Engineer J. O. Kennedy of Columbus will supervise the contract. All equipment will be in place by the time the funds are in the treasury.

Dr. P. J. Kline Answers Last Call; Community Loses A Beloved Citizen

DR. P. J. KLINE

Dr. P. J. Kline, one of Portsmouth's oldest citizens, its oldest physician, and one of its best loved and most highly respected residents, passed peacefully away at his home, Fourth and Washington streets, Sunday morning about eleven o'clock, the final summons bringing to an end nine weeks of pain and suffering. Dr. Kline was also prominent in activities of the Civil War veterans in this section—and was well known throughout adjoining counties as well as Scioto county. He had a legion of friends and acquaintances who will learn of his passing with genuine sorrow.

The aged physician and patriot had been in a serious condition for several weeks. There were times when those in constant attendance at his bedside believed he could not survive the day, but with that fighting ability that always characterized him, he would rally and for a while would seem a trifle better. Hope that he would be returned the victory in the battle for life was in vain, for the odds were on the other side and death took its toll.

In his long illness, Dr. Kline never faltered in the splendid faith which throughout his whole life had brightened the pathway for himself and those to whom he ministered. With sweet resignation, he awaited the time for passing, and despite his advanced age and the duration of his sickness, clarity of mind permitted him a sweet companionship with friends and loved ones until the last.

Here Fifty Years

Dr. Kline came to Portsmouth more than fifty years ago, and since that time has been identified with many of the city's best institutions and movements.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian church and had been an elder in that denomination for fifty years. He was an honored and faithful member of Hempstead Academy of Medicine and enjoyed a large practice. He had served his city on the Board of Health and the Board of Education.

Perhaps Dr. Kline, physician and Christian, was best known as a Patriot. During the Civil War he saw hard service, and after being mustered out and taking up the practice of medicine, he devoted much time to the interests of his former comrades. For many years he was patriotic instructor of Bailey Post G. A. R., and in this capacity visited the schools of the city and county frequently. He was a fluent speaker, and never tired of telling of the privileges and duties of patriotism and service to country.

In death, as throughout life, the flag he loved and served so well remains his constant companion. Above his bier is a large flag, and in his still hand is clasped "Old Glory," a gift from Mrs. Kline many years ago which he had always prized highly.

During the World War Dr. and Mrs. Kline rendered faithful service at the canteen at the N. & W. Station, when they helped many transient service men.

Surviving Dr. Kline are his widow, Mrs. Elida Price Kline; one daughter, Mrs. Leola Kline Reed; one son, Miss Mary Kline of South Salem; three grandchildren, Mrs. Calvin Fox of Philadelphia; Miss Eleanor Kline and Flint Kline of Cleveland; and one great-grandchild, Janet Fox of Philadelphia.

Funeral This Afternoon

Funeral services were held at four o'clock this afternoon at the residence, corner Fourth and Washington streets. At the request of Dr. Kline, the time for the last tribute was fixed at this vesper hour, a time of day which he always loved. The service was public, and in charge of the Rev. William H. Gleason, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. Dr. John Collins Jackson, a life long friend.

Mrs. R. G. Gilmore, soprano, was accompanied by Mrs. Clyde Knost.

Carrying the pall were Ben Hopkins and W. H. Schwartz, of the Session of the First Presbyterian church, Dr. W. W. Smith and Dr. W. A. Quinn of the Hempstead Academy of Medicine; and F. W. Sheridan and George Carroll of the Sons of Veterans, acting for the G. A. R. Interment in Greenlawn cemetery was private.

Academy Will Meet

Hempstead Academy of Medicine met in the Masonic club rooms, Masonic Temple building, at thirteen thirty this afternoon attended the services in a body.

Born in 1850

Peter James Kline was born in Ross county, July 4, 1850, the son of Colonel Henry L. Kline and Mary McCreary. He attended the district schools of his native home until he was 14 years of age. He then attended Salem Academy, where he studied until 1867.

He enlisted August 7, 1862 in Company I, 81st O. V. I. for three years. He was made corporal June 27, 1864 and sergeant November 10, 1864. He mustered out with the company July 13, 1866. He was always ready for duty. He was on the march to the sea and thereafter to Washington. He marched 1,100 miles on foot and never missed a duty.

On his return from war he took up the study of medicine under Dr. Samuel Hamilton. He attended the Miami Medical College at Cincinnati and graduated from there March 1, 1871.

He then opened an office in South Salem.

In 1873 he matriculated in the Bellvue hospital medical college of New York, where he graduated in 1874.

Dr. Kline located in Portsmouth, April 1, 1874.

He was treasurer of the Hempstead Academy of Medicine in 1881 and president in 1883. He was pension examiner under President Hayes and under President Harrison and was re-appointed under President McKinley in June, 1897.

Dr. Kline served as a member of the city board of education from 1886 to 1896. He was a member of the board of health for four years, 1878-1882.

A leading member of Bailey Post, G. A. R., he had served as commander. He was also an influential member of the First Presbyterian church and an elder for many years.

March 2, 1871 he was married to Elida E. Price, daughter of David H. Price and Amanda Wilson Price. Two children blessed the union, Lena, the wife of Edward S. Reed and Charles Flint, who died several years ago.

As a physician Dr. Kline had the confidence of all his medical brethren and of the public generally. Among the first in his profession he stood, one of the most popular physicians and men in Portsmouth.

Always at the front of every project that was for the public good he possessed all the civic and domestic virtues that can be thought of. He had a wonderful store of human sympathy and was constantly expressing it.

The doctor was a pleasant, easy, and entertaining public speaker. He was unexcelled at a soldier's reunion, never missing one within a radius of 50 miles of his home. A camp fire fired his heart at once, and on these occasions he would speak and would tell of the incidents of 1861 and 1865 with such fervor that one could not but think he never forgot the enthusiasm of his youth, and could always bring it back to his comrades. He had an inexhaustible fund of war reminiscences and was constantly adding to his store. He forgot nothing of his army life and could tell of it so vividly that his hearers felt that they were eye witnesses.

Youth Stabbed In Fight

GREENUP, KY., Sept. 2.—Robert Henson, 19, of Whitesboro, three miles back of this place, at the Martinsburg hospital, is suffering with four stab wounds, the result of a fight at Whitesboro Sunday afternoon. The worst wound is in the lung. At the hospital today, Henson's condition was said to be good and that he would recover unless complications developed. The other three wounds are not considered serious.

Greenup county officers are searching for John Stevenson, the alleged knife-wielder. Officers who visited the scene of the trouble Monday report that Stevenson escaped into the hills.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Frye and son, Emory, and Miss Georgia Chabot of Cincinnati, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Chabot of Fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Anglin, of 816 Waller street, have as a guest the latter's sister, Mrs. Mollie Pritchett, of Roanoke, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ranshaw, of Wheelersburg, have received cards from Florence, Italy, from Miss Blanche Davis, who is spending the summer in Europe.

Miss Davis will be remembered by her many friends as the former principal of Wheelersburg high school.

Mrs. Manuel Schaffer, of 1150 Twelfth street, who underwent an operation in the Hempstead hospital several weeks ago, was removed home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chabot have returned to their home in Roanoke, Virginia, after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Chabot of Fourth and Waller streets.

New York Suffers From Intense Heat

NEW YORK, September 2.—(By the United Press)—New York sweltered again today in one of the hottest September days on record. Thousands suffered acutely from the high temperature, combined with unusual humidity.

Yesterday was the hottest Labor Day on record, the thermometer registering 92 degrees and driving the city's millions to beaches and resorts outside the city.

One man died from the heat and six were prostrated. Several other deaths were attributed indirectly to the high temperature.

Good, Bad and Indifferent Bowlers Will Have An Equal Chance Next Thursday

In the hope of getting in proper physical trim for the coming season the members of the Masonic Bowling League will hold an outing at the beautiful summer camp of Dr. E. C. Jackson on Turkey Creek, next Thursday afternoon and evening, September 4.

The committee on arrangements will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the office of the chairman, Dr. O. D. Tatle and complete the program. In addition to athletic feats there will be a shooting contest, with 22 calibre rifles as the weapons.

There are quite a number of the bowlers who miss the head pin as often as they hit it and it is hoped the rifle shooting contest will assist these artists in becoming more accurate. Suitable prizes will be presented to the winners.

There will be a game of baseball staged in the afternoon at the conclusion of which a real shore dinner will be served. Dr. E. W. Young has agreed to make a whole kettle full of chili-con-carne, and this will be augmented by roasting ears, hotted ham and various side dishes, with steaming hot coffee apient.

Those who attended the outing held at Camp Pepperbox recently are assured that the affair at Dr. Jackson's camp will be just as enjoyable, and it is hoped that the league will be represented by a 100 per cent attendance. Those who cannot come for the entire afternoon are requested to be there at 6 o'clock, when supper will be served.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Rardin and daughter Marcella, of Columbus, who spent the week-end at "Green Gables," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Davis at Rushtown, are now the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Rardin, of Waller street, where they will visit until Thursday noon, when they will return to their home in Upper Arlington.

Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Scott and family, Dr. and Mrs. Scott's mother, Mrs. R. W. Goddard, have returned to their home in Wellston, after a week-end visit with Mr. and Mrs. Watson Goddard at their summer home near Rushtown.

Chicken Thief Trap Works; Nip Clifford Shot; Leg Is Taken Off At Hospital

Harrison "Nip" Clifford, well known Tenth street young man, is in Hempstead hospital minus his left leg as the result of a gunshot wound he sustained about ten o'clock Monday night, when, in attempting to enter the hen-house of Earl Garvey, Turkey Creek farmer, a shot gun, which had been set in a trap, was discharged as the door to the hen house was opened, the load of shot taking effect in the intruder's left leg, just above the knee. The wounded man was brought to Portsmouth in an automobile by his companions, Charles Shaw, William Hamm and Carl Bates, all North End young men, and at Tenth and Court streets, Clifford was transferred to an ambulance and sent to the hospital where the leg was amputated by Drs. Crawford, Rardin and Wilkoff.

Although Clifford was greatly weakened by the loss of blood he recovered nicely from the shock of the operation and today it was stated that his condition was satisfactory.

Sheriff Harry M. Dunham and Deputy Eliza Carter took Shaw, Hamm and Bates into custody soon after their arrival in the city, and locked them up at the county jail where they are held to answer charges of chicken stealing. They have been in trouble before and officers believe their capture will result in the uncovering of other thefts they have committed. Mr. Garvey had been missing chickens for sometime, it is said, and last night, before retiring, set a trap in his hen-house, fixing the loaded gun in position in such a manner that when the door was opened, the weapon would discharge, which is exactly what happened when Clifford attempted to enter. A fifty-pound pig, sacked and ready to be carried away with the load of chickens which a startle was after, it is claimed, was found near the open door where it had been abandoned.

CHILLICOTHE, O., September 2.—A government probe will be conducted at Camp Chillicothe this week. The probe is being conducted by the United States Army. The camp is located in Chillicothe, Ohio. The probe is being conducted to determine if the camp is being used for the purpose of training soldiers. The probe will be conducted by a committee of officers and civilians. The committee will be headed by a major general. The committee will be made up of five members. The committee will be given the authority to conduct the probe in any manner they see fit. The probe will be conducted for a period of two weeks. The results of the probe will be reported to the War Department.

No Money in Sight, Waverly Fire Fighters Decide To Quit

Waverly, Ohio, September 2.—At its regular meeting the Waverly Fire Company, in operation for the past eight or ten years, decided to quit and voted accordingly. It seems that the company hasn't drawn any salary since 1923 and at that time only by discharging it is probably with the same thing in mind that the present company has disbanded. The clerk of the company was authorized to officially notify council of the company's action and what action this body may take is only problematical. It has been unofficially understood that anticipating such a move by the paid company an effort will be made to organize a volunteer company by council. Chief Ed Heibel will resign along with his company. What effect this may have on insurance rates is not known but as the rates are already high business men of the village will no doubt be anxious to avoid a raise in insurance rates by financing a fire company.

New Supervisor at Hempstead

Miss Lois Stewart, a graduate of White Cross Hospital, at Columbus, Ohio, arrived to take up her duties as new supervisor at Hempstead Hospital. She takes the place of Miss Anna K. Jackson Defeated Playing fine ball behind the effective pitching of "Heinie" Waits, the Wheelersburg Stars defeated the Jackson nine at Jackson Sunday by a score of 6 to 3. Waits held the home team to three hits and the markers registered by the home guards were the result of misplays. Cline and Artis starred afield for the victors and the hitting of Franz was a feature of the bout. The winners posted Glusler's delivery for nine safe hits, including two-ply shots by Waits and Artis and triples by Franz and Cline.

Stribling Wins

MACON, Ga., Sept. 2.—(By United Press)—W. L. "Young" Stribling won the referee's decision over young Bob Fitzsimmons in a fast ten round bout before the home folks Labor Day.

The young fighter was on the aggressive during the entire battle and unofficial experts at the ringside awarded him all of the ten rounds.

Referee Alexander, however, said Fitzsimmons had a shade the best in the first rounds.

LaFollette Sends

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Senator LaFollette, Independent candidate for president declared in an address Monday to a far-flung radio audience that neither of the old parties merited support of the nation's voters.

Both, he said, are "serving the same master and seeking to preserve intact the privileges they have yielded to favored interests."

On the other hand, the Senator asserted, he and his followers welcome into their ranks "all who believe in orderly progress, under free speech, free press and free assembly, to solve the problems which confront us."

"We would strike down the privileges enjoyed by the few," he added, "and return to the simple principle of Jefferson and Lincoln."

The candidate, who does not expect to begin active campaigning for several weeks, delivered his Labor Day message from the scene of a studio broadcasting station. Twelve other stations, one of them as far west as Kansas City, Mo., were linked by telephones with the station here.

Doffing his coat in the hope of getting relief from the oppressive heat, Senator LaFollette, who never before had spoken over the radio, leaped forward in a chair as he talked rapidly for 35 minutes into a microphone, resuming, he said later, an audience before him.

Reiterating his contention that the monopoly question is the dominant issue of the campaign, Mr. LaFollette insisted that the Democratic and Republican parties had clearly shown their subservience to special interests.

Fatally Stricken at Brother's Funeral

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio, September 2.—Death took toll at the funeral of John Deffenbaugh, Laureville, when Harry Deffenbaugh, 63, the deceased's brother, of Columbus, died of heart failure.

John Deffenbaugh committed suicide Thursday by firing a bullet through his head. Harry, attending the funeral, suffered a heart attack. He was removed to the home of his great-uncle, Lafayette Eby, Laureville, where he soon succumbed.

Group Of Representatives Of Organized Labor Pledge Their Support To The President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(By The A. P.)—A group of representatives of organized labor pledged their individual support to President Coolidge during a call at the White House Monday and heard a pledge by the president to perpetuate conditions which he described as "the best in the history of our wage earners."

Mr. Coolidge said the government was anxious to continue its efforts to promote the welfare of workmen, but told his visitors he did not favor a labor government.

Mr. Coolidge said, he did not favor a corporation government, a bank government or a farm government. "I am for common sense government," he added, "by all the people according to the American policy, under American constitution. I want all the people to continue to be part takers in self government."

We do not need to import any foreign economic ideas or any foreign government. We had better stick to the American brand of government, the American brand of equality and the American brand of wages. America had better stay American."

Stands For Fair Wages
The president said the government would continue in its efforts to provide healthful surroundings, education, reasonable conditions of employment, fair wages for fair work, stable business prosperity, and the encouragement of religious worship.

The delegation was composed of about 125 men including members of many labor unions who came to the White House under an arrangement made by T. V. O'Connor, honorary president of the International Longshoremen's Union and Chairman of the shipping board. The president received them in the east room. George Fritas, president of the Licensed Tax Men's association introduced the visitors to him.

"We all carry union cards," said Mr. Fritas, "industrially, we follow our chosen leaders, but politically we follow no man and no group of men. As citizens we own the right to cast our own vote. We have never parted with that right and never will."

He introduced other spokesmen of the group who made similar declarations. One of them, Daniel Smith of the Switchmen's Union, took a direct shot at the candidacy of Senator LaFollette who has been endorsed by the American Federation of Labor.

Ridiculed LaFollette
"I am a member of a labor union and have had my card for more than 35 years," he said, "but a labor organization is not and never will be a political party. The political party which Mr. LaFollette is raising reminds me of the armies that occasionally are organized in Mexico for insurrection purposes."

The other speakers were John Drane of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Joseph Ryan, of the International Longshoremen's Union, and Joseph P. MacArthur, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The president's speech was loudly applauded and afterwards the party went to the rear of the White House where Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge posed with them for pictures. The president later entertained his callers at a buffet luncheon in the state dining room.

Gives Views Of Labor
Detailing his views on labor, the president said the right of labor to organize, to bargain collectively and to negotiate through its own chosen agents had been determined, and that along with the right to organize went the right to strike "in private employment." Compulsory arbitration, he added, "to my mind cannot be reconciled with the right of individual freedom."

That Chummy Feeling

between mother and daughter or father and son is emphasized very strongly when it comes to buying footwear. "Just like dad's" and mother approves, particularly if the oxfords in question are built on sturdy lines and have quality that insures service. The children feel that mother and daddy are about the best that ever happened and they certainly feel grown-up when they are consulted. Our oxfords for boys and girls are made by manufacturers with years of experience and a reputation built on quality. See how quickly it loosens dirt in washing
no rubbing-no bluing

When you see how much drudgery La France relieves you of on wash-day, you will never be without it. Dissolve two tablespoonsful with your soap, and it does away with not only one process in washing, but two. No rubbing and no rinsing.

With La France you just soak or boil the clothes, then rinse and wring, and the washing is practically done. And how beautifully done! The clothes are snowy white, clean, and even smelling as a field of clover. Dirt simply cannot resist La France.

Use La France with any soap you like—bar, powder or flakes. And use it in the washing machine. It blues as well as cleans and works like magic whatever your method of working. Moreover, it is perfectly safe. Will not injure the most delicate fabrics. Only to cents a package. Order from your grocer to-day.

For a smooth, glossy finish on the clothes in ironing, add Satina to the hot starch. Keeps the iron from sticking and imparts a delightful fragrance to every piece so starched. La France Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia.

We only worked a half day Saturday as all the smart New York girls were close at home, but chose some lovely and intricate afternoon frocks that I'm sure you be delighted with when you see them. They are of supple silks, delicate drapings and smooth, slim of line and enhancing to the charm of a little figure and becoming to every woman. The new neck lines are much to their credit; giving for much to their femininity, and for those of square, oval, V and bateau cut. A frock that took my eye particularly, was of chambray embroidered with large rose sleeves and Maroccan with long close sleeves and a clever twist of drapery at the hip.

The sleeves of these frocks show a pleasant variety. The old fashioned leg of mutton has returned to his former, the picturesque peasant sleeve is cleverly adapted and the tight sleeve with flaring cuffs very popular. Some of these frocks show edges in fur or do oversilk at hemline or cuffs.

We visited many coat houses today and I will tell you of them Wednesday's Times.

her Belinda had left the little San Francisco office of Nancy's Nick's Company, and she was sitting in the fair man's measurements shop, and she had been of the bunny girl.

Misses Snip Snap put on his glasses and looked them over, because Nancy was just learning dressmaking and Nick was just learning to sew and in spite of magic, and they were likely to make mistakes.

"My goodness alive," said Miss Snip Snap. "How could one side of her skirt be five inches long and the other side six inches long, and it could her collar be six inches around and her waist be three inches around, and how could that be?"

"Why, it's just exactly what tape-measure said," said Nancy. "I sort of thought it was queer, but that's exactly the way the measure says. Maybe the tape-measure isn't right."

"I should say it is," cried Miss Snip Snap. "I should say it is."

"It never makes mistakes."

"Well, then, that's the way Linda Bussy measures," insisted Nappy. "And if she is crooked, can't help it."

"It's very queer, for she looks right," said Mister Scip. "Well, here is the goods Mrs. Bussy picked out. It is orange with red and purple stripes. And it's so trimmed with this polka-dot trimming with chiffon ruffles. Here's my best magic needle, and here's the thread."

"How shall I cut it?" asked Nancy.

"Like this pattern," said Mr. Scip. "It's the very latest."

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — JUNGLE ANIMALS

After the Uger was out of sight Jack filled his leather bucket at the spring. Flip stopped over and took a long drink and even the little pet monkey lapped up some water. Then, with the guide leading the way, Jack and Flip and Flip went back to the camp. He was still a bit frightened.

"Well, what's the matter with you?" asked the captain as he saw that Jack was a bit white. So Jack told him and the sailors of what had happened near the spring. "After this you'll have to be a bit more careful," advised the captain. Then the explorers all sat down to eat breakfast by the fire.

Jack noticed two long sticks stuck in the ground, with another long stick on them, which was stretched just above the camp fire blaze. On the long stick hung a piece of meat. "What kind of meat is that?" asked Jack. "Why that's bear meat," replied the friendly old captain. (Continued)

Train Victim Dies at Hospital

Used Kellogg's Bran 2 months—constipation gone after suffering 3 years

Three years of suffering with constipation. What happiness was his when Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled, restored his health. But read his letter.

"Dear Sir:—This is what I think of your bran. I would not be without it for anything in the world. For three years I used all kinds of medicines for constipation, and only got temporary relief. I was advised by a doctor to use Kellogg's Bran, and since I began using it I don't have to take pills or anything else. I have used it two months, and my constipation has left me. I feel better now than I have for three years." (The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran brings results because it is ALL bran. You can't fight constipation with halfway meaasures—with bran which is only part bran. It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective. Because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts naturally—just as nature acts. It stimulates the intestine and makes it function regularly. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will refund your money.

Kellogg's Bran has a delicious nut-like flavor. Quite different from ordinary, unpalatable bran. You will like it as a cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package. Eat two table-spoonfuls of Kellogg's Bran every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

Skeleton, Rusty Guns, Bring End To Story of Shooting Affray

LOGAN, September 2.—The skeleton of a man, believed to be all that remains of Albert M. Hendrickson, for whom there has been a reward of $2,000 for two years for the death of Elias Thompson, a deputy sheriff in August, 1922, was found today by an aged miner on a mountain side seven miles from this city.

Two rusty revolvers, each of .38-calibre and each empty, were found beside the bones.

Thompson, who was fired upon from the Hendrickson home, after leaving a train at Caplan two years ago, fell with Hendrickson's first shot. Lying on the ground mortally wounded, but still clutching his pistol, Thompson returned fire wounding Hendrickson seriously and killing his wife, who was also shooting.

Family Row Ends In Killing

ASHLAND, Ky., Sept. 2.—Frank Woods, 31, miner, of Rush, Ky., was shot and fatally wounded Monday by his brother-in-law, James Burton, 30, who was arrested a short time later and lodged in the county jail at Catlettsburg. The shooting occurred in front of the Rush store, and Woods died while being rushed to an Ashland hospital in an automobile.

Burton claims that he thought Woods was reaching in his pocket for a gun when he shot him. He stated that there had been bad feeling between himself and his brother-in-law ever since he and his wife had separated three years ago. He further charges that Woods had sent him threatening letters. Burton is the son of the late G. W. Burton, of Rush.

Wild Oats

WHEN Dan took Evelyn in his arms and told her that he loved her she believed him. In her ignorance of life she had no way of knowing that he was not in earnest, that he was sowing his wild oats—that his intentions were far from being what she thought they were.

If she could have looked into his heart and seen the evil there; if she could have known that he was following the advice of a cynical friend who had said to him "To win success you must know life—especially women." Had she known that she was only one of many girls into whose ears he had poured the same sweet sounding words, what a world of shame and degradation she would have been spared.

"His False Standard"—in True Story Magazine for October is a story of the sowing of wild oats—and the reaping of a crop of agony. It's a powerful, gripping tale that rings true because it is true, every word, every episode, every character—all except the names which for obvious reasons have to be disguised. If every man and woman could read it, could see the broken hearts and ruined hopes, could know the days and nights of remorse and tears, and witness the grim retribution that fate eventually bestowed, few would risk such punishment to achieve a questionable degree of false success—no young man would trifle with a woman's love and no girl would give her heart to any man until she had made sure that his intentions were honorable and his character above reproach.

If you are a young man, or woman, mother or father with children whose interests you have at heart do not fail to read this thrilling lesson taken straight from life so that you or yours may be spared the agony and grief that Evelyn was called upon to endure because she was ignorant of the ways of life—and men.

Other Absorbing Stories from Life

Here are Just a Few of the Unusual Features in the October Issue of True Story Magazine

"Her Final Choice"—Slighted all her life by indifferent relatives, Nina, an orphan, had always hungered for love. So when Peter Hodge came into her life, she fell an easy prey to his seeming devotion. She little realized that in throwing herself hastily into his arms, she was inviting not only the bitterest suffering and remorse, but actual tragedy. This pathetic life story is a terrific literally clawed her way out of hell is one of the most heartgripping, truly helpful narratives that has been published in True Story Magazine.

"You Belong to Me"—Alice's greatest weakness was that of being too easily led. When Avery Holson, whom she hated, bullied her into a loveless marriage, she was afraid to withdraw from an alliance that was both wicked and loathsome to her. Had she only been properly taught from her childhood days, what agony of mind and soul she might have escaped! True Story Magazine has published many true life narratives but none that teach a more powerful moral lesson than this.

"Out of the Depths"

The $1,000 Prize Story

When other children were being schooled by a master pickpocket, when she was ten years old she could lift a wallet or a roll of bills so deftly from a pocket that the victim would never realize it—until too late. And then when she was eighteen, her mother, "Maudie Nell," turned her over to a finishing school—she was to take courses in bookkeeping, shorthand, and all past masters at the game. When she graduated from this school she was accepted in the most exclusive circles of society—and her beauty, her charm, her winsome ways brought her into contact with many men—had they only known what lay behind those blue eyes, that winning smile, that soft voice, they would have been frozen in their tracks. Then Fate plunged her into her life and twisted her life out of shape. Her own and her victim's. But who would believe the truth from a girl who had squeezed $50,000 out of a rich man for some love letters. Then came the truth—romance, heartache, anger, passion, love. You've probably never read such a heart-rending gripping story as "Out of the Depths," which appears in the October True Story Magazine. And you are going to say that it deserves to win the $1,000 prize.

"The Network of Fate"—When Janet concealed from her husband the fact that his friend and financial backer, had made improper advances toward her—she believed that her silence was the only way to save her husband from financial ruin. The story of her suffering and despair before she could prove her innocence and of how she should be a solemn warning to every girl who is given to idle dreaming about love.

Raceland Fair Off To A Good Start

RACELAND, Ky., Sept. 2.—A large crowd of 5,000 saw the opening of the six-day race meeting and fair yesterday at beautiful Raceland, and enjoyed an afternoon of thrills and excitement. The race program, which included five events, left little to be desired, and the fair exhibits furnished entertainment and amusement to hundreds from all quarters of the tri-state region.

The weather man attempted to put a damper on the opening day festivities but he failed to get away with it. Rain started peppering down shortly after the first race on the card and continued throughout the afternoon. But the bangles carried on just the same.

The track was lightning fast when the runners trotted past the grandstand for the opening event. Practically every seat was occupied and all the boxes were sold. Society folks were out in all their splendor. Gay parties were being staged by the blue bloods of the Blue Grass. Huntington sent a great gathering of racegoers to the Greenup county course, Ashland, Froston, Charleston and other cities in this vicinity were well represented.

The jockey honors of the day went to that sterling rider, W. Pool.

He was astride two winners.

The leading owner bobbed up in T. J. Abrams. The Abrams stable saddled Satana and The Uster. The Red and Blue colors of the prominent Ashland, Ky. horseman were the only ones to flash past the judge's stand to victory twice on Monday.

While the fields were only fairly well filled on Labor Day, the Raceland management announced that more horses would arrive at the Greenup track this morning from Lexington and the Delanger Fair.

This will give the handicapper plenty of horses to fill the daily program.

In addition to the fair and the races, there is a high class carnival playing at the Greenup county plant. Many special acts will be put on in front of the grandstand by well known acrobats. In addition to this, there is a Ferris wheel, merry-go-round and other riding devices. The shows on the midway are clean cut and well worth the price of admission.

Live stock of every description is on display. Chickens, cows, pigs, dogs, sheep and other stock are on exhibition under a mammoth big tent near the grandstand. The show is under the personal supervision of Mr. Gould of Huntington, who is an expert on stock.

If you go to Raceland any time during the next five days, just remember that there is something to see besides horse racing. All of the stock exhibits are free dolars.

Major E. J. Seiberman of Middleboro, road commissioner, delivered an address urging good road construction.

RESINOL

"During those awful days of suspense both as to Evelyn's fate and mine, I passed through hell-fires of suffering. . . . and I learned that I loved Evelyn, loved her as a man loves, sunshine, and clouds, and rivers, and all natural, wholesome things."—from "His False Standard" in True Story for October.

The Gage of Battle

In this country today a mighty conflict is raging. The forces of Evil are battling tirelessly to destroy all that is clean, wholesome, virtuous and good.

The favorite weapons of Evil are deceit, treachery, cunning. Afraid to advance into fair and open battle, it stalks in the shadows and attacks in the dark. It invades our homes, offices, factories. It lurks in the highways and byways. Its prey is the innocent, the ignorant, the misinformed. Against its attacks mere moralizing avails little. The fight calls for action—determined, fearless, bold. True Story Magazine, as edited and published by Bernard Macfadden represents that kind of action. It has thrown itself aggressively into the fight.

Right from the start, True Story Magazine expected criticism—and got it. It also expected the active support of all clear-thinking righteous men and women who are striving for the betterment of humanity—and it received that, too. Every day this great publication receives new evidence of its tremendous power for Good.

True Story has and needs but one weapon—the sword of Truth. If it can help men and women, boys and girls, to live cleaner, purer lives; if it can save others the heartache, the suffering, that follows a course of evil as surely as day follows night—it will have gone far in its triumphant battle for Right.

Members of the Retail Merchants' Association will hold their regular monthly meeting tonight at the Elk Parlors at 6:15 o'clock. A fine dinner will be served after which a number of talks will take place. G. W.

Sheets, manager of the Steinlamps Furniture Company, has been chosen the main speaker of the evening. All members are urged to be present as there are a number of important business matters to be taken care of.

Judge Layne Will Be Candidate

IRONTON, O., Sept. 2.—Judge A. J. Layne officially became a candidate for re-election Saturday when he filed his petition for a place on the ticket with the board of elections. His entrance, of which there has never been any doubt, completes the judicial triangle in this county. Arno C. Robinson having received the Republican nomination and Judge F. G. Roberts the Democratic nomination at the recent primary. The names of all three will now appear on the judicial ticket.

Billy Evans Says

Nick Altrock is considered baseball's greatest comedian—the premier of the diamond.

Nick, 35 years of age, was one of the game's greatest pitchers, an outstanding southpaw in a classy field. When Nick was a pitcher he used brain as well as brawn. Other southpaws with far more natural ability failed to compare with him, because he did more than mere pitch. Altrock put more thought back of every ball he delivered.

There is a flash to the career of every player, no matter how great a star he may be. Altrock was no exception to the rule.

As a pitcher Nick Altrock was one of the most serious individuals that ever stepped on the ball field. Baseball was a business with him, a mighty serious one.

In Nick's day as a player the stars didn't get anything like the money they do today. Always a good spender, Altrock, as he passed as a player, probably found that his bank roll wouldn't last forever.

In an effort to capitalize on his reputation as a player, Altrock turned from the serious to the humorous.

Realizing all work and no play sooner or later became monotonous, Altrock gave a new touch to the game by pantomime comedy. Every fan is so familiar with Nick's stuff that comment is unnecessary.

Altrock still has his serious moments, however, despite the fact that he is the champion laugh-maker. When not clowning, Nick sits back on the bench and carefully studies the play of his teammates and opponents. The comedy ends with him when the game starts.

WILLIAMS' LIVER & KIDNEY PILLS

Keep Livers Lively, Correct Kidney Complaints

"Is the game faster than it was 15 years ago?" I asked Nick in one of his serious moments.

"I would be a star pitcher today," was his reply. Mr. Fan, you can read between the lines for yourself on that one.

"Could any of the old fellows hit them like Ruth?" was question number two.

"If Sam Crawford, Larry Lajole, Hans Wagner, 'Buck' Fenneman and some of the old-time sluggers could have had a whirl at the lively ball, the fans would still be talking about their records," answered Nick.

"In what department, if any, has the game gone back?" I asked.

"Pitching of today doesn't compare with that of 20 years ago," replied Altrock. "Baseball certainly has slipped in pitching."

Veteran stars are agreed that major league pitching has slumped badly in the last 10 years.

They point to the fact that in those days every club had at least four great pitchers, while now they are lucky to have two.

Incidentally the veterans point out to you that 90 per cent of the leading pitchers in the game today are experienced pitchers, men who have been performing in the majors for 10 years or more.

All of which makes Altrock's argument look logical.

Two Boys Drown

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Sept. 2.—Jack Biles, aged 10, and Paul Logsdon, 9, were drowned in the Ohio river here today. They were swimming along and encountered a "water-curtain" in the water, one of them dragging the other under the surface. The bodies were recovered.

"Big Bill" Meets "Little Bill" For Tennis Honors Today

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 2.—America's famous rivals for premier tennis laurels—"Big Bill" Tilden, champion for the past four years, and "Little Bill" Johnston, twice former champion—will stage another duel for national title honors this afternoon on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis club.

They have met in four of the five past final round matches besides one battle that came before the final. Tilden has been victor four times. On past performances the reigning king of the courts is favorite, but today's struggle promises to be one of the most keenly waged of any they have had.

While the Little Californian was sweeping through to an astonishingly easy victory over Gerald Patterson, Australian champion in yesterday's final, with the loss of but two games, Tilden was extended to a sensational five-set battle to dispose of Vincent Richards.

Tilden, in fact, besides dropping the first and fourth sets, came within a point of losing the third set before he finally rose to the peak of his characteristic brilliancy to sweep Richards back in the fifth set. The scores of this match were, 4-6, 6-2, 8-6, 4-6, 6-4.

Do you know Baseball?

QUESTIONS

1. Batsman receives a base on balls. He goes to first base and the ball is returned to the pitcher. The runner, after reaching first base, makes a false dash for second. The pitcher snaps the ball to the first baseman and the runner is touched before he can get back to the base.

Is the runner out, or after a base on balls is given is play suspended until the next batter takes his place in the box and the pitcher gets on the rubber in a position to pitch?—D. D.

2. With a runner on first and one out, the batsman hits a long drive to left. When runner on first reaches third, he is in doubt as to whether he should try for home and hesitates momentarily. The coacher at third lays hands on him, yells for him to keep going and finally pushes him in the direction of the plate.

The relay to the plate is wild and both runners score. Is it doubtful if perfect handling of the ball would have gotten the runner at the plate. What is the proper ruling?—D. D.

ANSWERS

1. The runner who reached first on a base on balls makes himself liable to be put out when, after reaching first, he makes a dash toward second base. Play is not suspended in such a case until the next batter gets in the box. The ball is in play and the runner is out.

2. No consideration can be given the fact that a perfect play at the plate would not have retired the runner. When the coacher grabbed the runner, he committed an interference that automatically retired said runner.

Cow Burns In A Barn Fire

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed a barn belonging to W. H. Ralston at Rarden at an early hour Monday morning. A milk cow perished in the flames and a considerable amount of feed and hay was also consumed. The loss is estimated at $700, with no insurance.

The blaze is believed to have started from a cigarette stub thrown into the hay by young men who entered the building to sleep. The state fire marshal has been asked to investigate the blaze.

Tazelbeck will insure you.

Ford Hits Cannon Ball

IRONTON, O., Sept. 2.—A Ford roadster owned by James M. Dickerson, grocer, of South Third and Pine streets, and a Cannon Ball Transportation Co. bus collided at the Third and Park avenue intersection shortly after noon yesterday. A fender on the bus was damaged while the Ford car was out of commission. No one was injured.

The bus was going north on Park avenue at the time while the Ford was coming west on Third street.

Wounds Wife, Kills Her Male Companion

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 2.—Shooting with easy accuracy at targets directly in front of him, Melvin Parsley, 24, prominent young business man, of Crum, W. Va., seriously wounded his eighteen-year-old wife and killed her companion, Jack F. Baldwin, 23, in front of the Norfolk and Western depot at Kenova last night.

Parsley came up behind the pair standing on the corner and, without warning, emptied his revolver, four bullets entering Baldwin's body, and two ploughing through Mrs. Parsley's back, according to the story related by eye-witnesses to the shooting.

Immediately after the shooting Parsley walked over to his automobile, parked across the street from the scene of the tragedy, casually tossed the smoking revolver into the car, and sat down to await the coming of the police.

Parsley, the Democratic nominee for constable in Lincoln district of Wayne county, is operator of a saw mill and general store at Crum.

Around The Circuit

NEW YORK, September 2.—Washington and New York are fighting the main bout in the American League with Pittsburgh and Brooklyn challenging the Giants in the National.

The world champions following the loss of three of the first four rounds to their young rivals after stubborn fighting, kept even in the next two yesterday and are still given an equal chance to retain their title because of experience which is expected to count in the last stages.

The veteran Goliath, of the National, however, continues to show signs of aging legs which may fall in the final encounter with the youthful Pirate challenger or the sturdy Robin, who suddenly abandoned his role as sparring partner and knocked the champion out of the ring in a three-game series last week.

The Giants were the only main bout team to falter in the Labor Day double headers. Washington took two from the Athletics by scores of 5 to 3 and 4 to 3, but the Yankees kept within a game and half of the lead by trimming the Red Sox, 3 to 0, and 12 to 2.

For the first time in months the National League race became closer than the American, when Pittsburgh advanced to within one game, and Brooklyn surged to within three games from the Giants in first place. McGraw's team lost a decision in the eleventh to Boston, 5 to 4, but came back with a 10-to-2 victory. The Pirates went into extra rounds to win from Chicago, 5 to 4, and dropped the Bruin again for a count of 4 to 3.

Brooklyn swung a mean right and left for a double knockout of the Phillies 7 to 2 and 6 to 3. Detroit slipped another game away from the rank of contender by splitting with Chicago, winning the first, 16 to 5, but losing the second, 10 to 2. Cleveland and St. Louis also divided arguments as the Browns won the first, 11 to 8, and lost the second, 13 to 2. With Hornsby out of the game, the Cards took two on the chin from the Reds and were counted out, 5 to 0 and 9 to 0.

RAISING THE LAST $50,000 FOR BRIDGE

HAVE YOU MADE YOUR PLEDGE?

Portsmouth's Quota $300,000
Already Pledged $246,900
Kentucky's Quota $200,000
Over-subscribed 6,500
Total to Raise $ 53,100

Entering the last stretch, the solicitors who are making possible the Portsmouth-Fulton bridge, started out today full of energy to complete the sale of all the $300,000 worth of stock it is planned to place in Portsmouth. Seven hundred dollars trickled into the C. of C. offices Monday morning bringing the grand total of sales up to $246,900 and leaving only $53,100 yet to be raised.

Saturday was the banner day of the campaign, nearly $30,000 being raised, and it was likewise marked by the biggest single subscription to the project, 200 shares.

Manager Adam Frick of the C. of C. calls attention to the fact that it is virtually impossible to place the bridge to the community, and he asks that all who have not yet been seen to call at his office on Sixth street and get in on the community project.

The youngest subscriber to the bridge fund was recorded this morning for Miss Jane Pressler, Martha Jane at present resides with her parents at 730 Seventh street. She is only 16 months old but her bank account shows she has the wherewithal to pay for the stock.

G. O. P. Congress

successful, they will be developed as circumstances permit. There are no commitments one way or the other except on a few issues like the protective tariff. Practically everything is in the hands of Congress anyway. The executive has done a good deal of proposing, but Congress has done a good deal of disposing.

Mr. Coolidge is not worrying just now about legislative programs. If he wins the election he thinks Congress will be more obedient. His opponents say Congress will be even more truculent as the LaPollette ticket will bring in a large number of radical Republicans who will be looking toward 1926 and 1928 to improve the political strength of their movement.

Real Worry Over Congress

Resentment against congress when it was adjourned was intense in many parts of the country. Even the Republican leaders were bitterly condemned. Privately even the partisans of Mr. Coolidge are compelled to admit that their real worry is about Congress for with a Republican executive and a rebellious Senate and House the nation may encounter uncertainty far more disturbing than anything any of the candidates for the presidency could bring about alone.

It's the weakness in the Republican armor. Mr. Coolidge is safe and sane, but is a Republican Congress? The Democrats have yet to prove that they will be any better though they insist they will have southern conservatives plus eastern conservatives if they win a majority this time for they do not anticipate the acquisition of many southern or western radicals.

Mr. Coolidge has not yet disclosed how he will handle the question of getting a Republican Congress to execute his policies. He has entered no primary fights to prevent the re-nomination of men who opposed him. So far as is known the Republican national organization is not entering candidates of the pro-Coolidge type to wrest seats from the Republicans who blocked Mr. Coolidge's attempts at leadership. In another month most of the men who are to run for Congress will have been nominated. Many of them are reluctantly en-

Baseball, Politics and a Good Time Enjoyed By Sheridans

F. W. Sheridan, advertising manager of the Daily Times, is back at his desk after a delightful two weeks' vacation which he and his family enjoyed at various places. Leaving here they motored to Zanesville and from there to Canton, where they spent a couple of days with his son, Rev. Donald M. Sheridan, who is pastor of the Christian church.

From there they went to Pittsburgh, witnessing a game between the Pirates and Brooklyn. From there they retraced their path to Zanesville—then to Columbus where they attended the State Fair and saw and heard Hon. John Davis, Democratic nominee for president. The former home of Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan, McConnelsville, was next visited and from there they drove to Marietta. The rest of their time they spent at Buckeye Lake and Lancaster. In all they traveled 1300 miles, had one collision, two punctures but a whale of a good time at that.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan expect to endorse the national ticket for their own political advantage and thus may escape punishment from Republican voters who wanted them in the past to uphold President Coolidge's policies. Other Congressional nominees are saying little about the national ticket and show signs of continuing their insurgency.

As a general thing very little is being done to make the Republican party in Congress how to the Coolidge leadership. Whenever this question is asked in Republican circles it is usually answered with the statement that once Coolidge is elected a Republican Congress will follow him. Before the campaign is another month old this phase of it will grow constantly in importance for business big and little will be worried less about Davis and Coolidge than it will be about Congress.

To Discuss Farm Relief

Returning eastward he will make some speeches in Missouri at places still to be decided. In his talks at Omaha, Mr. Davis will discuss farm relief. At Denver, it is stated his general subject will be conservation, reclamation and mining with special attention to the development of hydro-electric power.

Mr. Davis had the most strenuous day yesterday of any of his campaign. Besides his set address at Wheeling, W. Va., he made about a dozen rear platform talks and shook hands with hundreds of persons both at Wheeling Park and at railroad stations in West Virginia and in Southern Ohio.

In discussion of the handling of labor disputes, Mr. Davis declared in his Wheeling address for a rewriting of the transportation act, so that there will be a substitute for the existing railroad act for handling labor disputes. He would have only the employers and employees represented and would have the appointments made as the disputes arose, with the spokesmen for labor coming from the crafts, parties to the controversy.

Would Strengthen Schools
Beside his declaration with regard to industrial disputes and the child labor amendment, Mr. Davis declared for the strengthening of the public school system, so that there might be equal opportunity for all to receive an education, and warned against entry upon what he termed the "fatal pathway" to a state monopoly of education.

With particular emphasis, the candidate said there should be no trifling with fundamental rights of freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of labor, freedom of contract, freedom of the press and freedom in matters of religious belief and practice.

Would Reorganize Labor Board
Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 2.—(By the A. P.)—Abolition of the Railroad Labor Board in its present form and the setting up of more flexible machinery under governmental direction for the handling of railroad labor disputes was advocated here Monday by John W. Davis the Democratic presidential candidate.

Moreover Mr. Davis, in a Labor Day address to the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly, subscribed to the board principle that because of the widespread effect industrial disputes have upon commerce and industry, it is the duty of the government to lend aid and encouragement in every possible way to their settlement.

Mr. Davis expressed the view that in the setting up of machinery through which there could be "fair and calm discussion of the subjects at issue with thorough going publicity" there were two fundamentals, first, that the boards be composed of representatives of the employers and of the particular crafts concerned—this would leave out public representation such as there now is on the railroad labor board—and second, that such boards, instead of being fixed in their positions should be filled by appointments made from time to time as the controversies arise.

Cooperation Urged

Taking cognization of a question often raised with regard to the railroad board, the Democratic nominee declared that whether legal machinery exists to compel the submission of labor disputes to such a board or whether its discussions could be enforced were of minor importance, if the board itself enjoyed the confidence of the parties to the dispute and if it realized that its chief function was to encourage spirit of cooperation and friendship between employer and employee.

Mr. Davis' statement with regard to the settlement of labor disputes came in the course of a general exposition of his views regarding labor. He an-men should be kept here longer," he said. "I think the local authorities can take care of the situation."

An appeal to Governor Small is considered. Galligan and five of his deputies are out on bond on warrants charging them with the murder of three of Saturday's victims. Warrants also were issued for Duty and City Justice E. N. Bowen. Galligan, Duty and Bowen and the others named in the warrants are opposed to the Ku Klux Klan.

On the other hand Galligan, has nine prisoners, alleged Klansmen, whom he arrested shortly after the cessation of hostilities. He is moving them from jail to jail for fear armed Klansmen will attempt to effect a rescue.

Hundreds of men from the surrounding country were still in Herrin today and Galligan and Duty fear another outbreak the moment the opportunity presents itself.

Duty issued an open denunciation of the Protestant ministers of Williamson county for their alleged friendliness toward the Ku Klux Klan.

Duty is convinced that the ministers in their alleged support of "Law Enforcement" on the part of the Klansmen is the factor largely responsible for the present state of civil strife resulting in bloody clashes between the warring factions.

"Every preacher in this county with the exception of two," declared the state's attorney, "neglects no opportunity to extol the Klan from their pulpits."

nounced at the outset that he did not intend to make a political speech," but his audience alternately laughed and applauded when he made several veiled thrusts at his opponents in the presidential race.

There also was liberal applause as the candidate concluded with a call to the laboring men and women of America to lead their countrymen in a movement to have "America take her rightful place in the councils of humanity" and to see "that she becomes the first among the nations in the service of mankind."

Three Great Duties
Those who counsel isolation in any part of government policy.

Mr. Davis said, "are blind leaders of the blind. We shall have world peace and world disarmament if we are willing to work for it, to struggle for it, to risk for it. I have great sympathy with the slogan 'America First' but I want to make my own definition of it."

Mr. Davis told his audience that there were three great constructive duties before the American people if labor is to hold the ground it has gained, which he added, is but another way of saying that if America is to remain American, those he enumerated as:

Preservation of the equality of opportunity and making the nation secure against any tendency to harden into a system of caste.

Preservation of the equality of rights with laws to frame and to apply as to leave all men every liberty consistent with the equal liberties of others. Declaration that the key to the door of opportunity was education. Mr. Davis was applauded when he announced that the public school system must be strengthened. He also declared that the nation must not "enter in the fatal path of a state monopoly of education."

The door to equal opportunity through education having been opened, the speaker declared that the country must see to it that it is not closed by human greed and see that the child labor legislation amendment should be ratified by the states.

Mason's Stars Win 2 Games

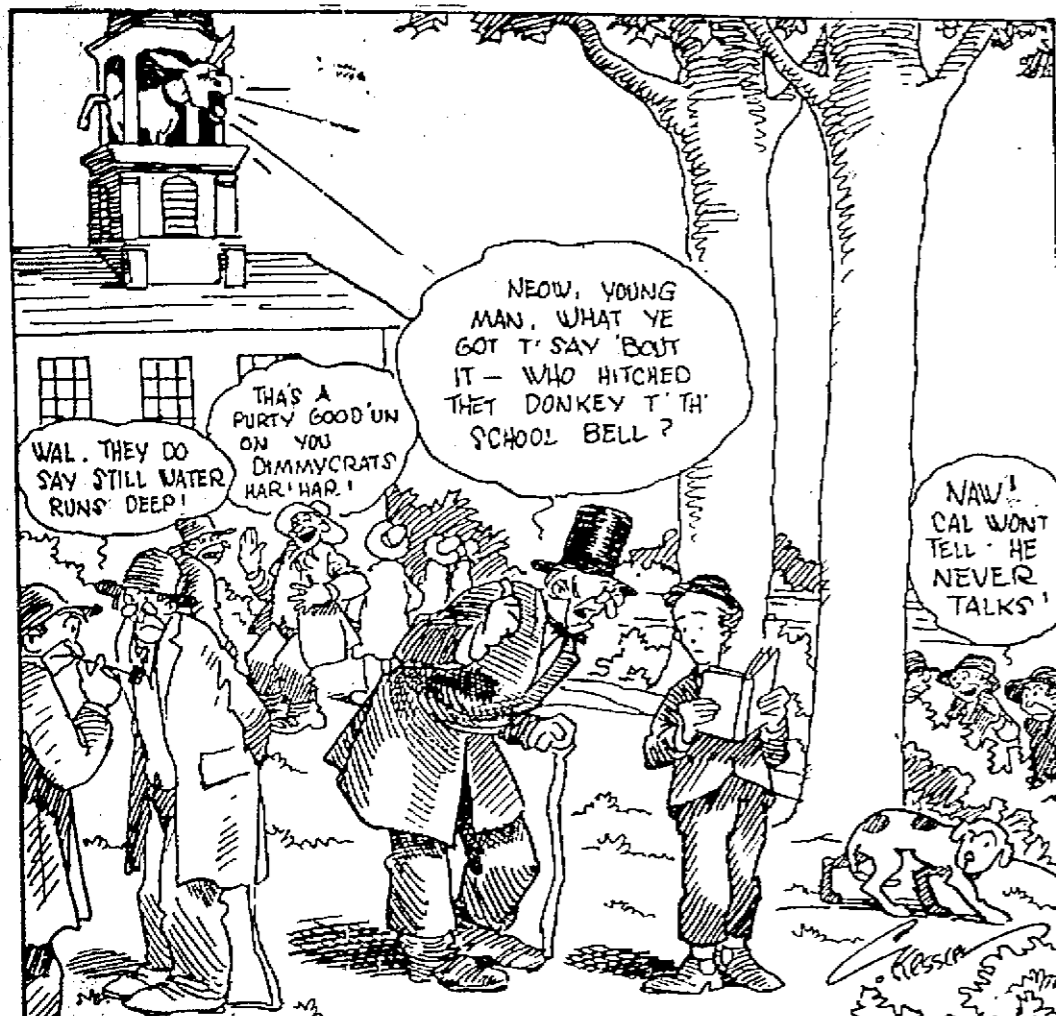

Mason's Stars registered two victories over the week-end burying the Otway Motors under a 16 to 10 score Sunday and emerged the winners in a slug fest with the Lucasville nine on Labor Day. The score of the holiday conflict was 14 to 13. Mason's athletes coming from behind in the last round to win it out by counting three tallies after the enemy had forged into the lead by registering a trio of markers in their half.

Big Chief Meyers was in fine form in the Sunday contest and set the Otway lads back with ease while the Stars kicked the output of McDaniel all over the arena. Ray and Appel were the opposing pitchers in the Monday contest and both were hit with considerable freedom. Hubert, Hubert, Baker and Ralph Kersner led at bat with three safe blows each.

Turns Down Arms Problem

GENTVA, Sept. 2.—(By the A. P.)

The refusal of the United States government to follow the discussions of the convention on arms traffic control before the commission of the League assembly was one of the chief subjects of comment in Geneva today. The comment became general when the League, after the reception of Washington's refusal, made public the text of the official invitation sent to Washington, which declared that the members of the council of the League were in agreement that the presence of a representative of the United States would be of great value.

League officials said tonight the disappointment over the American refusal was all the greater because everybody connected with the league had expected an affirmative answer.

Having begun collaboration with the League on the arms traffic question, it seemed only natural, in the view of the officials to expect the United States to continue collaboration until the work was concluded. They added that although the tone of the American reply was friendly, it seemed peculiar, because of the American policy that the United States would cooperate with the League whenever possible on special matters interesting America.

The invitation to the Washington government set forth that the position of the United States on the question of arms traffic has been considered as an important factor by the assembly of the council and its expert commission, and that the members of the council felt that the fullest opportunity should be afforded the United States to follow every step in the development of the question.

Therefore it would be of the greatest importance for the success of the work," continued the invitation, "that a representative of the United States government should be present during the meeting of the third convention of the assembly and the presence of an American representative would be highly appreciated by the commission."

PRINCE OF WALES

SEES TURF EVENT

STOSSET, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(By The A. P.)—The Prince of Wales went to the races at Belmont-Park yesterday as an onlooker. But from the time he alighted from his motor car to enter August Belmont's box until he drove from the gate and his car joined hundreds of others on a hot Long Island road, he was a center of attraction.

It was officially, the heir to the British throne, Edward Windsor, an Englishman seeking a quiet and unobtrusive rest, who was at the races. But the crowds ignored the distinction, and thronged about the embarrassed young man, so much so that when the Prince descended from the grand stand to go to the paddock after the second race, his military aides and the state police had difficulty in making way for him. The Prince kept insisting his lips and dancing apprehensively about.

After having a look at Epinard and Zev, the Prince went into the judges' stand at the track. There, with his field glasses he watched with great interest the race in which Wise Counselor beat both Epinard and Zev.

Portsmouth Man Wins The Pie and Egg Eating Contest at Big Baptist Picnic; Survives the Day

The Baptist picnic held at the Lakesville Fair grounds Labor Day with 2000 men, women and children in attendance from all sections of the county, was the largest in the history of the Scioto County Baptist Sunday School Picnic Association. It was the afternoon of the picnic only for a short time. Many remained until late in the evening and enjoyed camp fires after dark.

Hess and Hess of Jackson won the horseshoe pitching contest. George Carson of the First Baptist church this city won the pie eating and egg eating contests and survived the day. Many other prizes were awarded in various contests and games for young and old. The committee in charge saw to it that there was something doing every minute of the day.

The refreshment committee reports that over 1500 bottles of pop were sold in addition to many gallons of ice cream and candy.

Court House

Charges Cruelty and Neglect
Alleging neglect and cruelty Essie Phillips seeks divorce and alimony and custody of their minor child in an action instituted Monday in Common Pleas court against Elmer Phillips, whom she married in July, 1922.

Wife Seeks Divorce, Etc.
Margaret Bender, Millsdale Road, suing through her mother, Anna Teetzlaff, seeks divorce and alimony with custody of their two minor children in an action filed Monday in Common Pleas court against Walter Bender, Bousier's Run, whom she married in December, 1920.

Plaintiff in her petition filed through Attorney A. R. Campbell Jr. complains that Bender has beat and abused her, threatened her life and threw her clothes into the road, besides, she says, he has failed to support her and their children properly and neglected them for the association of other women. She asks that Bender be enjoined from molesting her or interfering with her in any way in the custody of their children.

Accused of Stealing Automobile
Lee Stidham, 18 years old, was taken into custody and landed behind the bars at the county jail by county officers Monday where he is held to meet a jury charged in connection with the alleged theft of a Ford touring car belonging to Floyd Ashbire, Duck Run man, from near the Portsmouth Refractories company plant, Gallia pike, where he is employed on August 20.

Stidham was apprehended near Ashbire's Corner, Vernon Township. The officers later recovered the stolen machine when they found it in the Plakernan settlement. Stidham's companion, Harley Bailey was also taken into custody, but he will probably be released as the investigation indicates he had no hand in the theft.

Youths Released
Clarence Winkle, 16, and Howard Kaps, 17, were named given by a couple of youths picked up by the police Monday for misconduct and sent to Juvenile court. The lads were later released by Judge Gilliland.

Escaped Prisoner Recaptured
Sydney Hardin one of the six prisoners who saved their way out of the county jail a couple of weeks ago, was recaptured Monday by Kentucky officers at Siloma, Ky. on a tip furnished by Sheriff Harry Dunham. The prisoner was released to Ohio and is now safely incarcerated behind the bars at the county bastille. At the time of his escape he was serving time on a non-support charge.

Of the six men who escaped, four have been recaptured.

Eloping Couple Returned Here
Charles Emmons, 30, who was apprehended at Hillsboro, where he eloped with Louella, 17, of Duck Run girl, in hope of getting married, was returned to Portsmouth yesterday with the girl, by Deputy Sheriff Robert Reno. The couple is held at the county jail Emmons to answer to a charge of contributing to the delinquency and the girl for alleged delinquency.

Filed For Probate
The will of the late Henry Prescott, who died recently at his home in this city, was filed Monday for probate.

Suit Dismissed
An approved entry was filed in the office of the clerk of courts Monday dismissing the suit of Charles R. Noble against Maude A. Noble. It was said the parties had adjusted their difficulties.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Franklin Avenue M. E. Church will meet at the church on Thursday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. All ladies are asked to be present and to bring their needle, thread and thimble.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Central Presbyterian church, will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Alva J. Chabot, of Fourth street. A full attendance is urged.

Boy In Court For Wrecking Train
ATHENS, O., September 2.—(By the United Press)—Ralph Robert, the nine-year-old boy who wrecked train in which two men were killed here last week today was sent to Columbus for examination by the State Bureau of Juvenile Research.

Judge Sam Johnson, in probate court, who heard the boy's case today, decided that because of his extreme youth it would be inadvisable to charge him with any crime in connection with the wreck. He will be committed at Columbus and his case disposed of after the Research Bureau makes its findings.

Ralph wired a timber to the railroad track "just to see what would happen."

Police Spy In Ranks Of Klan Is Killed
BUFFALO, N. Y., September 2.—(By the United Press)—W. Edward Oberman, who met death in a street here Sunday night in which he shot and killed his assailant and severely wounded two other men, was a police spy in the ranks of the Ku Klux Klan is the belief of his friends.

Oberman's automobile was trailed by another car for more than two hours the night of the duel, police learned today. Finally he stopped and got out to parley with the men who were following him. The shooting began almost immediately. Oberman before losing his own life killed Thomas H. Austin, believed to be a North Carolinian.

George C. Bryant, local Klan leader, and Carl W. Sturm, a Klansman, were hit by flying bullets and the condition of both is said to be critical.

A sister of the slain man who told reporters her brother "was a Catholic. He loved his country and his church and died a martyr."

U. S. Sending More Warships To Protect Americans In Chinese Towns

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Further concentration of American naval power at Shanghai was reported today by the navy department by Admiral Thomas Washington commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

Asiatic fleet, as a precautionary measure growing out of the threatened civil war between Chinese factions.

The dispatch listed nine destroyers as en route to Shanghai, six additional boats having sailed yesterday from Chefoo, the summer base. To support these, the Isabel, flagship of the river patrol, was ordered to Shanghai from her post at Kluang.

and then will cross the New Hampshire border for an address at Manchester. In his four-fold broadside against President Coolidge yesterday, Senator Wheeler repeatedly dwelt on the silence of the president in the face of official wrong doing and declared:

"What this country wants in the White House is not a silent mythical man, but some one with the intestinal stamina to clean house when confronted with such conditions as have been exposed in Washington."

Hammers, Bars, Springs were Used in Scrap, It Is Charged;
VANCEBURG, KY., Sept. 2.—Denver and Charles Pressley are held in the county jail in default of $300 bonds fixed late Monday when they were given examining trials before Judge Stone of the county court. The young men are charged with assault upon Bruce and Elwood Cooper, owners of a garage. It is alleged the Pressley brothers went to the garage and started trouble, during which hammers, wrecking bars, auto springs, etc., were used freely. The Cooper brothers were cut about the head and had to have the services of physicians.

Brick Pavements Don't Raid the City Treasury

MONEY spent to keep cheap pavements in repair year after year comes out of the city's revenue.

The more spent for street repairs, the less the city has for other purposes and the higher goes the tax levy in order to make up the deficit and carry on other municipal activities.

It is a thrifty community that buys brick pavements for their long-life and low-upkeep. Such communities know that the cheapest pavement in the beginning is the most expensive in the end because it requires constantly and costly maintenance, and often early reconstruction.

Slayer Out Under $10,000 Bond

When Wilbur Emmert, 25, rearrested Saturday night on a first degree murder charge in connection with the fatal shooting of his brother-in-law, Edward Minor, 23, on a New Boston street, a week ago, was brought into Municipal court Monday, Judge Sprague held him to the grand jury under a charge of second degree murder, and fixed the bond at $10,000 which was furnished and the accused was released from custody. The action of the court in binding the defendant over on the lesser offense of second degree murder made it possible for the prisoner to secure his release on bond, otherwise he would have been forced to remain in jail, as first degree murder is not a bailable charge.

Emmert was originally charged with manslaughter and was released last Friday on $5,000 bond following preliminary hearing in Mayor V. R. Bierley's court at New Boston. Attorney B. F. Kimble will defend the accused.

Presented With Diamond Ring

William Klitch, tailor, with the United Woollen Mills Company, Fifth and Chillicothe streets, will long remember Labor Day 1924, for on that day he was presented with a diamond ring by an officer of the firm at an outing held for the company's employees at Huntington. The ring was a reward for five years of continuous service. Felix Haas and H. A. Lloyd, other local employees, also attended the outing.

C. & O. Orders 1000 Car Bodies

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 2.—President W. J. Harahan has just announced that the Chesapeake and Ohio railway has awarded the Richmond, Va. Car Works, Incorporated, the contract for equipping one thousand (1,000) 70-ton hopper bottom gondola cars with new bodies. Orders have also been placed with the Inland Steel Company and the Illinois Steel Company for supplying five thousand (5,000) tons each additional rail on this year's contract.

800 at Eagle Outing; All Enjoy Fine Time

The Eagles' picnic and outing held at the Lucasville Fair Grounds Sunday was an enjoyable affair and a huge success. A crowd of more than 800 attended and enjoyed the day in the shade of the beautiful grove. Numerous athletic events, including a base ball game and boxing contest, featured the program, which furnished interesting amusement for many in the crowd while other forms of amusement was provided for the merry picknickers.

The Selby band furnished music for the occasion and discoursed stirring tunes throughout the day.

Frankie Susnell and Red Wile were the contestants in the boxing contest staged after the noon hour and which resulted in a draw.

Everyone then repaired to the race track, where a ball game was played between the married men and the single men. After a fierce struggle the married men came out victorious, drubbing the single men by a score of 8-6.

The teams presented the following line-up:

Married Men—Rogers, c; Rivers, 1b; Loderick, 2b; Matthews, 3b; Miller, ss; Daniels, lf; Cook, cf.; Brown, rt; Frank, p.

Single Men—Neal, c; Hunter, 1b; Weber, 2b; Brock, 3b; Hewitt, lf; Charles P. Morrison, 2b; Hoeber, cf; Blaser, rf; Roberts, p.

Many of other contests were held, the results of which are now being compiled, will be published soon.

At the noon hour a sumptuous dinner was served. The menu consisted of roast beef, baked beans, potato salad, roast corn, ice cream, lemonade, root beer and coffee.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Louis Spencer of Berkeley, California, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Irving Drew on Galbraith street, and Mrs. Drew invites all Mrs. Spencer's friends to call to see her any time after two-thirty o'clock tomorrow afternoon. No invitations have been issued other than through the press.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thummes and children, Mary Catherine and Evelyn, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Harris motored to Carter's Caves, near Jackson, Labor Day, where they spent a few hours, after which they continued their journey to Chillicothe, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Jones.

As a happy surprise to Mrs. Chris Grumme, her children, grand-children and a number of relatives gathered at her home on the West Side Sunday for a pleasant family reunion. This was the first time they had all been together for sixteen years and they spent a very happy day together. Those in the party included her sons William, George, Frank and John Grumme and Mrs. Mary Savage of Portsmouth and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Imm and sons Edward, Roy, Joe and Delores Crawford of Sadorville and Mrs. Scott Blair of Waverly. Stomach Remedy A Fast Seller

Dare's Mentha Pepsin

Six Thousand Bottles Sold In One New Jersey Town Last Year

Wurster Bros. Declare Money Back If One Bottle Doesn't Make Any Stomach Sufferer Rejoice

At last the way has been found to combine Pepsin with other corrective stomach agents so that it will do the most good in the shortest possible time.

Why bother with slow actors when one deservesthe most of this splendid and pleasant liquid remedy will cause gas, bloating, heartburn, acidity, heartburn or any upset condition of the stomach to quickly vanish.

And why should any man or woman suffer another hour with indigestion or any stomach ailment when the remedy that acts almost instantly can be easily procured?

But there is more to say about this remarkable remedy—something that will interest thousands of despondent people. Dare's Mentha Pepsin not only quickly relieves stomach distress, but it also conquers stubborn indigestion, dyspepsia and gastritis, and puts an end to dizziness, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness and despondency which distressing troubles are nearly always caused by chronic stomach disturbance.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin is pleasant to take, has a delightfully refreshing taste and after it has put your stomach clean and healthy condition, just notice how much better you look and feel, for besides correcting stomach disorders this supremely good remedy that Wurster Bros. and Druggists everywhere guarantee, is a fine tonic that builds you up and makes you work with vim and with health and sleep soundly.—Advertisement.

Boats Torn From Moorings By Storm

CLEVELAND, O., September 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Gusty winds that swept in from the lake at a velocity of fifty-five miles an hour, brought rain and destruction today as boats were torn from their moorings, poles and wires were reported to be down in the various sections of the city and accidents occurred on slippery streets.

Two persons were injured when an automobile driver, blinded by the heavy rain, crashed into a milk wagon.

Three bathers were injured at Gordon Park.

The storm lashed Steamer E. C. Pope broke from its moorings in the East 40th street slip and swung across the narrow harbor, striking the Cleveland Engineering Construction Company tug, V. O. K.

The 300 foot steamer, engaged in automobile shipping trade between Detroit and Cleveland, pinned the tug against the wharf and threatened for a time to crush it.

Radio Equipped Planes Aiding Rum Runner

SEATTLE, WASH., September 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Radio-equipped airplanes, carrying observers, are operating with a Puget Sound liquor running fleet says a special dispatch received by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer from its correspondent at Secret Harbor, Cypress Island.

The correspondent stated that use of airplanes is to keep members of the fleet in Puget Sound informed of the approach of government speed boat runners, as vessels of the liquor fleet are also equipped with wireless sets.

Hornsby May Gain Star Player's Crown

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Rogers Hornsby, great batsman of the St. Louis Cardinals, now heads the list of candidates for the National League's award to the most valuable player to be given this year for the first time, but the brilliant second sacker has a real rival in Dazzy Vance, pitching mainstay of Brooklyn.

Hornsby's terrific hitting has prompted President Herdier to characterize him as the greatest batter of all time, but opinion from around the circuit shows strong support of Vance, whose spectacular streak of eleven straight victories and remarkable strikeouts record constitute one of the outstanding mound performances of recent years.

Among the remaining contenders, Boston has Dave Bancroft, star playing manager; Chicago has Hartnett, brilliant young catcher; Cincinnati Roush, veteran outfielder, who has staged a fine comeback; Pittsburgh, three brilliant youngsters

In Cuyler, sensational outfielder, Kremer, star pitcher and Wright, new shortstop; New York, Ross Young, leading hitter, and Frank Frisch, second sacker, who, however, has not measured up to his remarkable 1923 form.

Brooklyn has two other main stays, in Fournier, leading home run hitter of the league, and Zach Wheat, veteran captain; Philadelphia has no outstanding star, although Sand has played well at shortstop and Williams in the outfield.

Klansmen Present Wreath to Jew

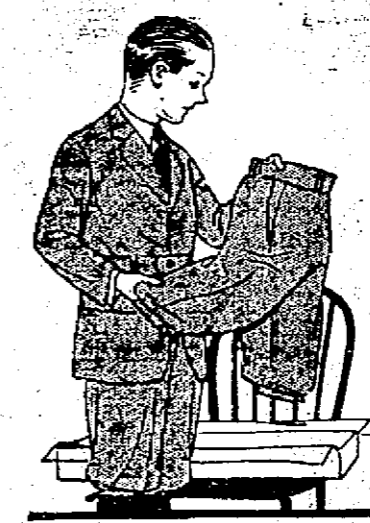

The Ku Klux Klan in Fairfield, Ill., called on Emanuel Steiner, Jewish clothing merchant. But it was a friendly visit. The klansmen came to present him with a wreath of American beauty roses on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the opening of his store. The presentation was made by Rev. Herbert G. Markley, pastor of the Fairfield Presbyterian church, secretary of the Fairfield branch of the Klan.

When Your Kiddies Start Out to School

Of course you'll want them dressed as neatly and cleverly as their little neighbors. Attractive, youthful apparel does make it easier for the children to return to the trials and labors of another school year.

'Tis time now to buy the things they need. And, at Anderson's where you can outfit both boy and girl on one big floor, great preparations have been made to supply you with the best.

Let them romp in these Suits

Boys needn't go easy on these suits for they're the sturdy kind that stand up under the wear and tear of his wildest pranks. Let him romp and play as he will, the excellent tailoring and strong woolen fabrics keep the little pirate presentable looking most all the time without mother continually mending.

Boys' Two Pants Suits of fine All Wool materials in attractive, practical school shades are here in clever new belted models. Well lined with Mohair. Ages 6 to 13 years at very attractive prices, $10 to $15.

Next to his dog-- Boys love Sweaters most

Ask that lad of yours if he wants a sweater (and mention the ones from Anderson's for very likely he's seen some from here) and see how enthusiastic he becomes on the subject of school clothes.

Every boy of school age should have a new sweater in his outfit. Especially will be like these from Anderson's with their big burly collars and heavy weave. Strong sturdy garments are here in either Pull-over or Coat style in a splendid range of colors. Prices are $2.50 and up to $6 for fine ones.

Pretty Gingham School Frocks

Hardly less than a dress a day will keep the little miss neat looking these early fall days when such fine sport is to be had at recess time.

Many very, very pretty ones are here now for school wear. Shades are warranted fade-proof, a feature that is most important in school frocks that require frequent laundering.

For the wee little lady are bloomer dresses, for older sister are regular style frocks in lovely fall shades. Attractive values at $2.99 and $3.50.

"Kaynee" School Blouses $1.00

Absolutely fast colors—(a new one free if colors fade.) Excellent fabrics—perfect tailoring—such features as these account for the popularity of Kaynee School Blouses among school lads.

Here are splendid assortments of these blouses, fresh, crisp and new. New colors and patterns by the score, most practical for school wear.

THE FIRST EQUESTRIAN STATUE erected in the United States was the statue of General Andrew Jackson, located in Lafayette Park, just opposite the White House. The statue was unveiled Jan. 2, 1853. The sculptor was Clark Mills of Washington. It is made of cannon captured from the British by General Jackson.

Early buying centered principally in the popular industrial issues, and a wide variety of specialties, which were responsive to pool operations. U. S. Steel rose almost a point to 110 1/2 on a heavy market. American Can, Baldwin and Mack Trucks, Gains of 1 to 3 1/2 points were scored by Texas Gulf Sulphur, American Locomotive, Stromberg, National Lead, American Ice, Foundation company, American Sugar preferred and Pressed Steel. Interborough Rapid Transit was an exception to the general trend, falling back a point. In the stock of new issues, Maxwell, "A" and "B" issues, Fleischmann, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Prisco, Missouri Pacific preferred and "Katy" preferred.

When the accumulation of week-end buying orders had been absorbed, the upward price movement came to a temporary halt with the result that profit-taking sales and short selling again made their appearance and brought about a moderate reaction from the early highs. American Can, Maxwell Motors "A", U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, and General Electric were among the popular industrial shares to fall back a point or more. Bullish demonstrations continued however, in a few special stocks, Nash Motors moving up 4 points to a new 1924 high at 135 and Jersey Central and National Baking preferred soaring 4 and 5 points respectively. The first hour's sales approximated about 250,000 shares. Call money again renewed at 2 per cent.

Corn and Wheat Show Firmness But Oats Sag

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Firmness in Liverpool cables and reports of frost in parts of the Canadian northwest had a tendency to give wheat values an upward slant during the early dealings here today. On the advance there appeared a fair amount of selling by cash houses however, which brought a moderate recession from the high opening at 3-4 to 1-3-4 higher. September 1-2-3-4 to 1-2-3-4 and December 1-2-3-4 to 1-2-3-4, the market underwent a slight general setback.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Wheat closed weak at a net loss of 3/4 to 1-1/2 and September 1-2-3-4 to 1-2-3-4 and December 1-2-3-4 to 1-2-3-4. Corn sympathized with wheat and reports of cooler weather over the corn belt, the December delivery being slightly firmer as compared with May. After starting 1/4c lower to 1c advance with December 1-1/2 to 1-1/4, the market scored gains on all deliveries.

CURED OF ECZEMA

I Am Often Laughed At
for being such a strong advocate of San Cura Ointment. "I had doctored four years before getting San Cura Ointment and Soap and was suffering intensely at the time I started to use them. In a few moments I was very much relieved. I continued using them and was completely cured of Eczema. I cannot get along without either San Cura Soap or Ointment. They are good for burns or sores of any kind."—Mrs. Sara R. Brierly, Greensburg, Pa. San Cura Ointment relieves itching skin, cuts, burns, bruises, boils, piles, chilblains, catarrh and chapped skin and Sunburn. Thirty cents and 60c. San Cura Soap is fine for skin eruptions and for babies' tender skin. Twenty-five cents per cake at Fisher & Strelch's pharmacy, Portsmouth, Ohio, and R. Bourgholtzer, druggist, Sciotoville, Ohio.—Advertisement.

PIMPLES

How to get rid of them.
WHY ENVY a clear, lovely complexion? Why wish and hope? It is within your reach! There is always one quick and sure way to make your complexion free from all eruptions, pimples, blackheads, boils and that impossible mudiness. That is by building up your red blood cells. S.S.S. does it for you! Because S.S.S. does build red blood cells, it cleanses the system and makes those so-called skin disorders impossible to exist. S.S.S. contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. It is also a remarkable builder of firm flesh, which is also important to beauty. It will fill out your hollow cheeks, put the "rub" of health in your cheeks and the sparkle in your eyes. Since 1828 S.S.S. has been beautifying complexions and giving women physical charm. This is why S.S.S. is accepted as the greatest of all blood cleansers and body builders. Begin taking S.S.S. today and give yourself what you have been looking for, for years.
S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores. It is more economical.

SEARCHING THE HAY STACK

ONCE more we must confess to disappointment in Charles G. Dawes. And oh, the pity of a man seeking office. Such fame and estimation as the candidate enjoyed before nomination he gained by being direct, forcible and dead certain. There couldn't be any doubt about his position and that position was always right, according to Dawes.

But look at him now, the candidate for vice-president. He isn't direct, he isn't forcible, he doesn't know a thing. Why, men and brethren, and women and sisters, too, for that matter, he is running to the cowardly refuge of proposing a commission.

Heretofore he has always known how, the Republican party alone was capable of solving all the problems of state, economics and salvation, but now Dawes admits he is stumped and the all-wise Republican party should call in the aid of the Democratic party to help it and the country out of Limbo. Look at the Lincoln speech. There he tells the farmers of the west that the agricultural situation is a deplorable one. More than that it is involved, complex and obdurate, the sternest and most ramified problem that ever confronted the wisdom of man.

Is Dawes going to swagger forth and chop its head off with mighty blow of his trusty saber? Is the Republican party going to solve it over night and off hand? No; indeed, not according to Dawes. The thing can't be "did" that way at all.

Then how? No other manner than by calling in a commission. Yes, sir, another commission, more department and bureau bunk, more flunkies and more expenses. Economy, my hearties, more economy, according to the preachings of Cautious Cal.

And, on my heart, that isn't yet all. The commission is to be bi-partisan, unspeakably a lot of fool Democrats are going to be called into help solve the mighty problem. A commission to go searching in the political hay stack for a solution.

That's courage, that's constructive statesmanship for you. No politics in this problem, no politics in anything, except when it comes to voting for the candidate. All, according to Charles G. Dawes, once the terrible and terrifying warrior with blade and tongue.

Who can blame us from being disappointed and depressed in spirit?

A THOUSAND TIMES YES

H. H. GRISWOLD, assistant state's attorney general, asks a bar association: "Are there too many laws?" Their stuns it by exclaiming: "There are not."

This incident brings to mind a patch Dolly Wise displays from a "rag" record that curiously enough is on the page preceding that which carries Mr. Griswold's self answered query: "They Are All Out of Step Except You."

The official knows that every lawyer in the body that he was addressing was saying in his mind: "There are."

The nation, every state, is afflicted and oppressed with too many laws. Mr. Griswold proves it himself when he states 184,800 words were used last session to pass new laws in Ohio, and that constitutes but slightly over eight percent of the verbiage of the statutes.

Further, he knows, or at least he ought to know, that Ohio has more departments and bureaus than are at all necessary. It takes laws to create these inflictions and nuisances.

He would say new conditions make necessary new laws. True enough, but by the same law obsolete conditions make old laws useless.

Besides the merest sprig of the law can tell you Ohio has many laws, statutes, that are in direct conflict with each other, others that go past all human understanding.

So has the nation; so has every other state. But for the further enlightenment of the assistant attorney general let us point out a present experience, in this neck of the woods, that shows there are more laws than there ought to be.

Scioto county has voted to build a new court house. One statute provides the county commissioners and four private citizens, to be appointed by the judge of the common pleas court, shall have supervision of the building of the structure, and the engagement of an architect. Another section provides that the county commissioners, the sheriff, the probate judge, the clerk of the courts and the candlestick maker shall have the approval of the plans and specifications! No man living can say where the four appointed commissioners have a voice in the particular matter or not, and yet they alone, outnumbering the county commissioners, may employ the architect that draws the plans and furnishes the specifications.

Again an ancient statute provides the county commissioners shall not pay more than $15,000 in any one year for a court house site. How many feet, covered by houses, will $15,000 buy in a live town these days?

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

ON THE ATLANTIC, Sept. 2.—This is the usual ocean going crowd. The space pipe smoking boys in knickerbockers. The carefully nurtured little Rollos in Eton jackets. The retired Iowa farmer on his first jaunt. And of course the sprinkling of celebrities.

Ex-Ambassador Henry Morgenthau is aboard. So is Charles De Roche, of the celluloids—who receives many admiring glances from the deck chair ladies for his frequent changes of gaudy attire. Mortimer L. Schiff and valet. Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth. George F. Baker.

Two typical ramps are aboard intact. They run to type-boy bobs, black court plaster patches and shadowed eyes. One is an Amazonian milliner of New York who threatened a "heart balm" suit in a recent intentional marriage. The other is a stage dancer whose frequent pleading have culminated in the midnight supper clubs of New York and London. They appear aloof and self assured and are no doubt scanning the passenger list for the most likely Good Time Charities with healthy bank rolls.

Then there are a few of the millionaire neurotheses who are accompanied by personal physicians who steer their patients astorically away from mite bar. With liquors of all kinds available there seems to be very little drinking.

And one must not forget the "woman of mystery" who appears on every boat. She is tall, glacial and govted in black and might have stepped from the pages of an E. Phillips Oppenheim novel. She walks alone, always puffing at a cigarette in a long green holder.

When passengers reached decks this morning they found the ocean as smooth as glass. The sun was a huge ball of fire in the East. The shuffle board and quill dates had an ideal day. Among the deck chair loungers the most frequently noticed book was Edna Ferber's "So Big."

I tried—not that it matters—my life belt this afternoon. It seemed a perfect fit.

One of the diversions for the evening is a "costume ball" in the grand ballroom. It will be a travesty, of course, because no one is prepared for masquerade. The ladies have the edge. They may use their Spanish shawls and go as Spanish grand dames. I am inclined to use my life belt and go as Annette Kellerman. Copyrighted, 1924, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Doc Koko's KOLUM

"Corn on the Cob" (By Winn Farmer, Pileton, Ohio) I admire the courtly manner Of the gallant Beau Brummel, And the very proper customs Of the dainty social belle. I respect the man who's at ease, In the parlor, on seashore, But the man who cuts his corn off Is the "guy" who makes me sore. I adore the man who's polished, And the man who's well bred, But the "guy" who cuts his corn off Is the one whom "I cut dead." There are "guys" who are too proper, And their manners are extreme, But the "guy" to whom my hat's off Is the one who strikes a mean. I am not a social guidpost, For authority on form, But the "guy" who cuts his corn off Is the one who makes me storm. I am strong for table manners, But I hate the social snob, Who's too refined and dignified To eat corn from the cob.

And So Think We All of Us "The insane asylums are backed—can't hold any more. What do the authorities do with those they can't take in?" "Issue licenses to 'em as automobile drivers, I think."

POILY AND HER PALS

Ashur Is A Living Example

IT HAPPENS IN THE BEST REGULATED FAMILIES — BY BRIGGS

"Would you like to see where I was vaccinated?" asked a pretty girl who was out motoring with her "fellow."
"You bet I would," he exclaimed.
"Well," she said, pointing to a hospital they were just passing, "right in there."
"Hello, this is O'Reilly."
"Oh, really?"
"No! O'Reilly!—Life."
A Standing Joke
Wife: "What? Not getting a seat in the street car's a joke?"
Hubby: "I should say it was—a standing joke."
Cynic and Maid
She was a pretty girl with a sharp tongue. He was a cynic.
"Marriage," he was saying, "is a mistake. Why should a young man marry when for a couple of dollars he can purchase a parrot?"
"Yes," remarked the pretty girl, "you men certainly are at an advantage. A poor woman can't buy a parrot under several hundred dollars."
A Useless Sermon
The students of a certain college grew so reckless in their behavior that the professor thought to reprove their conduct by a lecture on morality. They listened with due submission and humility.
In the course of his lecture he said: "My young friends the floors of hell are paved with champagne, motor cars and chorus girls!"
He was horrified to hear one of the students say in a sepulchral tone: "Oh, death! where is thy sting?"
Give Her Time
Rastus: "Ah! wants a divorce. Dat woman jes' talk, talk, talk night an' day. If you can't get no rest and dat talk an' drivin' me crazy."
Young Lawyer: "hat drowsy she talk about?"
Rastus: "She doan' say."—Life.
No Shaker
They had been married three months and were having their first quarrel, which shows that they were a remarkable couple.
"Evidently," she said icily, "you regret that you have married me. The step is not irrevocable, however. If you care to be released from your bonds—"
"Now," he interrupted, impatiently, "I'm no ninety-day recruit. I enlisted for the term of the war."
She couldn't think of any retort, so she maintained a scornful silence.—Exchange.
In the School of Childhood
Teacher (in geography class): "Can anyone tell me where Pittsburg is?"
Small Voice (in rear): "Please, ma'am, they're playing in Chicago."
